L.), 1. Double plays put the New York Americans out of business yesterday. Fine fielding was the strongest plank in the platform of the Cleveland coterie. Three times double plays came suddenly with men on bases and runs imminent, and three times they changed the New York outlook from rosy to dismal. Clevelands had no monopoly of the double plays. The New Yorks made two good ones themselves. The New York double plays held the Cleveland score down, but they could not keep the Clevelands from winning. In spite of errors, the contest was winning. In spite of errors, the contest was one of exceptional fielding.

Hughes pulled out of several tight holes for New York, but his pitching was erratic. Once he struck out a slugger after there were three balls and no strikes on the batter, and once he passed a batter to first after the tally had been two strikes and no balls. Hughes hurt his leg early in the game and pitched limping, as it were. His uncertainty was expensive, for two runs had their origin in bases on balls.

for two runs had their brailers balls.

Solid hits by Lush, Bradley and Lajole gave the Clevelands a run in the first inning. For New York, with Keeler on first, Anderson singled to right. Keeler hoofed heartily to third and on the throw over there by Flick Anderson tried for second. Bradley made a great stop of the throw, then made a high throw to second to head off Anderson. Lajole trached up and took the ball with one hand and tagged Anderson out—a remarkable play all around.

With two out in the third inning, Bradley in the sall with sall with sall with the sall with sall with throw to second to head off Anderson. Lajoie reached up and took the ball with one hand and tagged Anderson out—a remarkable play all around.

With two out in the third inning, Bradley went to first on four balls. Lajoie lifted an easy fly to Keeler, but the sun caused Wille to lose the ball completely and Bradley came home and Lajoie went to third on the freakish turn of luck. In the fourth inning Bay walked and stole second. Joss's single scored him. Bay was a flash of light on the bases, stealing three in all.

Anderson's two bagger and Fultz's neat bunt produced the New York run. Fancy fielding by the Cleveland colleagues squelched the locals in the sixth. Williams singled, Anderson was safe on Stovall's fumble, Elberfeld sacrificed. Fultz sent a fly to centre, on which Bay made a wonderful running catch, and doubled up Williams at the plate. In the eighth Keeler singled, Williams was hit and the bases were filled when Lajoie made a poor throw of Anderson's grounder. But Hickman ran back and took Elberfeld's fly and doubled up Anderson at first base.

With Bay on first in the eighth inning, Abbott grounded to Conroy. A lightning double play by Conroy, Anderson and Elberfeld followed when Bay attempted to reach third on Abbott's out at first. The Cleveland's had a man on third and one on second in the ninth inning, with only one out. Lajoie was up, and Hughes did a sensible thing in sending him to base on balls, filling the bases. Those who found fault with this move were silenced and the wisdom of it was shown a moment later. Hickman hit to Elberfeld and a double play resulted, just what was figured on in sending the premier batsman of the country to first base.

Hope was revived once more in the ninth. Fultz led off with a hit to right. Conroy, whose stick work was weak, flied to centre. Bay muffed, but threw Fultz out at Second. McGuire singled cleanly, but Kleinow's akimmer to Lajoie led to a double play and the finish. The score:

HIGHBALL'S LEG BROKEN.

Agony for Several Bours-Accident

AMERICAN DERBY WINNER FINALLY PUT TO DEATH. Insured for $25,000, the Ben Street Three-Year-Old is Allowed to Suffer

Occurs in Seagate Stakes at Brighton. Highball, winner of the American Derby last month, and one of the best three-year olds in training, broke his left foreleg at the ankle joint while participating in the Seagate Stakes, one mile and a furlong, at Brighton Beach yesterday. Although his injury was incurable, the son of Ben Strome—Strychinia was not destroyed until last night, several hours after the accident. The failure to end the colt's suffering was due to the fact that he was insured for $25,000, and his trainer, Bud May, refused to allow a bullet to be fired into his head until the insurance people had made a formal examination.

Had the S. P. C. A. been represented at the track there would have been no dilly-dallyhave been spared from witnessing a proceedunderstood that W. M. Scheftel, the owner of Highball, wanted to have him put out of his agony in the name of humanity, incidentally waiving the insurance money, but May was obdurate, and when Bob Pinkerton asked him to kill the horse he said: ence me. The colt is insured for $25,000, and where he is until the insurance company

Many trainers severely criticised May for sending Highball to the post at all, for in the paddock before the race the colt clearly favored his leg, and he went to the barrier so sore that experts predicted he would break down in the race.

The Seagate was a three-year-old stake. and Highball, taking up 126 pounds, gave sixteen to E. R. Thomas's St. Valentine and P. J. Dwyer's Knight Errant. The American St. Valentine was played at 16 to 5, with Knight Errant closing at 5 to 1. Martin went to the front with Knight Errant and set a smashing pace. Highball followed him, and as he reached the lower turn the Ben Strome colt attempted to run out, Odom tapping him over the head with his whip keep him in. The colt was so "proppy, even at this early stage, that few of the back stretch Highhall tried to run out all the way. Odom attempted to cellar Khight Errant at the beginning of the far turn, but after a short spurt Highball began to stop so quickly that it was seen that he was in serious trouble. Knight Errant and St. Valentine then left him, and the former won the race easily by two lengths in 1:52 8-5.

No sooner had Highball reached the head of the stretch than he was ready to drop n his tracks. Odom, realizing that something serious had happened, pulled him up short opposite the field stand and then jumped leg dangling, the small bones of the ankle protruding through the flesh. Several track men and stable boys crawled through the rails and went to the colt's assistance. Owner Scheftel and Trainer May hurried to the scene of the trouble, and Highball was dragged, hobbling in agony, through an surrounded by a crowd, including several advisability of shooting the great three-year-old there and then.

While the colt stood on three legs several stable boys pulled up bunches of grass which he ate eagerly. Others patted his glossy flanks, and a man threw a linen covering over his back. The fifth race was run when an attempt was made to get Highball out of the public gaze. A man pulled on a halter while half a dozen others pushed the cold behind. He hobbled out on the track and, pulled and pushed, he made slow progress the crowd denouncing the affair in unmeasured terms. Finally Highball was landed up beyond the free field, where he remained suffering until a bit of cold lead ended his suffering until a bit of cold lead ended his career.

Highball was bred by Major T. J. Carson and was purchased as a yearling by May, who brought him East hast year. As a two-year-old he was regarded as the best colt in training, winning the Flatbush Stakes and other notable races. He was regarded as somewhat of a disappointment this year until he won the Derby, hanging up a new record for the race. On Saturday he ran third in the Brighton Handleap. Owner third in the Brighton Handleap. Owner Scheftel was completely broken up over the accident. He was greatly attached to the horse and said that he would have willingly parted with $50,000 rather than have lost him in such a manner. He was ready to pay any amount if the horse could be saved, but several "vets" declared that this was entirely out of the question.

WST. LOUIS, July 12.—There was a tremendous demonstration in the stands when Jack Young beat Tabby Tosa and Flying Torpedo in the fourth race in one of the most aciting finishes of the meeting. The trio swung past the stand the first time heads apart. Flying Torpedo hung out a signal of distress at the last sixteenth pole, but Jack Young and Taby Tosa raced noses apart to the finish. nail of chiefes at the last sixteenth pole, but she young and Taby Tosa raced noses apart to the finish.

International Cricket Match Postponed PHILADELPHIA, July 12.—Owing to rain which interrupted play in the internationa match between the United States and Canada the game had to be postponed until to-mor the game had to be postposed until to have row.

In the Canadians second innings H. Ack-land batted in fine form for 52 not out. Dean Plumptre also did good work with an innings of 27, while H. F. Lounsborough added 29, and W. C. Baker 16.

With eight wickets down for 161, play ceased for the day. Should the elements allow, it is expected that the United States will score an easy victory to-morrow.

TO LOSE IT BACK. The Ryans Plunge on Honiton—Lanter-men, Lewisehn and Langdon Cash Big Bets on Humo Stewards Dismiss

Thomas's Charges Against Phillips. Joe Yeager broke even on three races yes-terday. He made a $5,000 wager on Palm Reader to show in the third event; Hildebrand having the mount, and got 2 to 1. With $10,000 in hand he placed half that amount Thyme in the fifth event for the rest, only to see Andrew Miller's mare run last. Hilde-brand might have won with Gold Money in this race if he had experienced better racing "Packey" Ryan's Honiton continued her money burning career in the second race. "Packey" has lost some heavy wagers on her this season, but he has not lost faith in the Ormonde mare, and yesterday he put another $5,000 commission on her. John J. Ryan-no relative to Honiton's owner-was so sure that the mare would win that he backed her to the extent of $10,000. Ed Davis, a sporting man well known in San Francisco, was at the track and followed the lead of the Ryans with $4,000 on the mare. He was in the act of trying to get down more money when "Packey," who knows him well, told him to stand pat.

E. E. Smathers has not been making many big bets during the last ten days, but he was so sweet on the chances of his horse Grand Opera in the second race that he placed $8,000 on him at 16 to 5, Hildebrand landing the son of Wagner in third place. The Canadians all played Merry England who beat both Honiton and Grand Opera in spreadeagle style.

The Sullivars believed they had a lead pipe in Old England in the third race. stable commission was $2,000, which went on when the price had gone up to 7 to 2. The rank and file got aboard early only to glare at Flammula when she led Old England home David Gideon was one of many shrewd players who played the disappointing Stoler Moments. He bet $2,000 on the Kingston mare, who ran her worst race of the year. Jesse Lewisohn had a big wager down, too but he backed Humo to win the last race, his agent placing $5,000 on the colt at 2 to 1. Frank Lanterman also wagered $5,000 on "Whitey" Langdon had $3,000 down, too, at prevailing odds.

Humo, by the way, opened at 10 to 1, but the layers would take very little money at these figures and quickly cut the price to 2 to 1. Sol Lichtenstein put up 10 to 1, and a man bet him $50 before the "Sage of the Ring" had a chance to rub. The colt was one of the best played horses on the card, and there was a wild demonstration when he won by

Cricket at 9 to 5 in the handicap. The Pessara colt was liked by a majority of the crowd, and after the race the cashiers were busy with unusually long lines of men who make moderate wagers. It was said that E. R. Thomas backed St. Valentine for a place in the Seagate for a big wager. Gideon dropped a bunch on Highborn in the first race, there being so much support for the daughter of His Highness that the odds dropped from 5 to 1 to 16 to 5. Blue Coat, who won the other day at 30 to 1, was hammered down to fours in this event, but he could not get out of his own way. There was a pretty fair clean-up with Jack McKeon, the winner, the Tammany crowd playing him all three ways.

The last race bristled with supposed good things, among them being Lilac, Awakening, owned by Yeager, but not played by him: Flinders and Perry McAdow, Capt. Brown started Glen Echo, a fine looking colt by Longstreet—Laura Ethel, in this race, but the youngster was green. He will bear

After investigating the charge made by E. R. Thomas that Jockey H. Phillips put up an alleged incompetent ride on Palmhearer last Wednesday, when the horse, a 2 to 5 favorite, was beaten at a mile and eighth by Glisten and Palm Reader, the dismissed the case on the ground that there was no evidence to convict the boy of wrongdoing. One of the stewards, when asked about the matter, said:

take into consideration Palmbearer's race on Saturday, when he won under the same track conditions in much faster time with liberal odds about him. It is thought that nothing further will be heard of the matter. The stewards, also, decided that Cincinnatus belonged to M. L. Hayman, who claimed him out of a selling race last Friday after his own horse, De Reszke, had been run up. It seems that Hayman, after he had claimed Cin-cinnatus, was approached by the latter's owner, James Blute, who wanted the Orna-ment, colt back.

"You can have him for $200 more than I paid for him," was Hayman's reply, whereupon Blute lodged a protest with the stew-ards, charging that Hayman was attempting to hold him up. Hayman acted well within the rules and customs governing selling races, and the stewards could do nothing else but sustain him. Cincinnatus ran in Hayman's name and colors in the third race

Lux Casta, the fige year old mare by Donovan-Lucasta, owned by the Albermarle Stable, broke down badly in the second race. She was ridden by Odom, who also had the mount on the ill-fated Highball. William Asta Chanler's Escurial also broke down in the second race.

John E. Madden has taken Winchester off

C. T. Patterson's hands. This two-year-old, by Hamburg-Tulla Blackburn, was bred by Madden, who gave him outright to Patterson. The youngster has a crooked leg, but he won a fine race not long ago. Since then, how-ever, he has been a disappointment. Madden probably believes that he can do something with him in the racing line. When Illyris finished third in the handicap yesterday, "Father Bill" Daly was speech-less for a moment. Then he confronted D. O'Connor in the padlock after the race and said:

"You lunkhead, you! You were shut off half a dozen times! The stewards are up there to protect you! Why didn't you make a protest of foul? Hey?" The boy made no reply, but a midget apprentice who was near at hand, raised a augh by calling out to Daly: "Hey, popper, where did yer finish, any-Jockey Wonderly broke through the barrier a couple of times with Merry England in the second race, and starter Cassidy set him down for five days as a result. The Highball incident should impress upon the various racing associations that they ought to have horse ambulances ready to be used in such emergencies. Such a vehicle would have been just the thing yesterday.

Madden shipped three carloads of horses to Saratoga yesterday. Carroll Reid and the Boston Stable will ship to-day, while Fred Burlew's string will go to the Spa to-morrow. Previous winners of the Seagate Stakes first run in 1899, were Ethelbert, Prince of Melbourne, Gold Heels, Old England and Rigodon. In 1889 and 1900 the distance was a mile and a quarter, afterward a mile and a furiong.

Racino, who was well played across the boards at 20 to 1 and finished second in the last race, is owned by W. S. Diffenderffer, a Baltimérean, who owns Racine, the sire of the colt.

EXCITEMENT AT POLO MATCH. Fire Interrupts Play-C. B. Zeilin's Collarbone Broken.

HEMPSTEAD, N. Y., July 12 .- During the polo match that was played this afternoon on the field of the Rockaway Hunt Club at Cedarhurst in the semi-finals for the Bliz zard cup, unusual excitement occurred at different portions of the game, which was won by the first team of the Rockaway Hunt Club, who defeated the four of the Philaielphia Country Club by a score of 14% goals There was a large crowd of well known ociety people present to witness the strife between the Quaker and Long Island teams When the match was furnishing some fast and clever play, a cry of fire was heard from the large country place of William Hazard who lives directly opposite the Rockaway Time was called, and the poloists, with many guests of the the Hunt Club, made a stampede for the Hazard country seaf. While some of the spectators of the polo game were running about looking for means bucket brigade, one of the guests of Mr. Haz-ard ran from the house stating that the fire, which had promised to be a very costly one had been extinguished through ness of the members of the Hazard family and the servants.

The poloists and spectators then made a hasty retreat to the grounds. Seward Cary, the referee, then called time and interest centred in the polo game. Both teams were in fine fettle and were playing a battle royal.

C. B. Zeilin, one of the Quaker players, was carrying the sphere down the field and was about to make a long drive for goal when his pony stumbled and rolled over twice, with Mr. Zeilin partly beneath him.

The player lay stunned for a few minutes, but pluckily arose to his feet when it was found that his collarbone had been broken. He pluckily walked unassisted to the clubhouse, where a physician attended to his injuries. It will probably be some weeks before he can play polo again.

Mr. Hazard then retired from the Rockaway team and the remainder of the game was played with three players each.

With an allowed handicap of four goals Philadelphia made two additional goals and lost a half goal for a foul in the second period. The Quaker goals were hit by Huhn and McFadden. Rockaway scored, twice in the first period, five goals in the second period, five goals in the third period and three in the last. Rockaway lost three-quarters of a goal for penalties. The poloists and spectators then made

PALMA TROPBY TROUBLE OVER. British Rifle Association to Be Custedian · Pending New Match.

Special Cable Despatch to THE SUN Rifle Association met to-day and decided to accept the Palma trophy, which has arrived in London, from the American Rifle Association, but only as custodian thereof until such time as arrangements can be made for a fresh match.

C. R. Crosse, secretary of the National Rifle Association, has sent the following reply to the American National Rifle Association: "I am directed by my council to acknowledge the receipt of your letter of June 18 and report the safe arrival of the Palma Trophy. I am further instructed to say that they accept the resolution passed at the meeting of your executive committee, which accompanied your letter, as a generous admission that the rifles used by American team did not conform with the conditions of the match, and that by return ing the trophy it is their intention that the match of 1903 should be regarded as null and "It is a matter of regret for my council that the rifles in question were not officially sub-mitted, in accordance with his instructions. by the captain of the American team to the captains of the other com sting teams at view of the material difference which is now their meeting previous to the match, as in view of the material difference which is now known to exist between the rifles used by the American team and those issued to United States troops it would not have been possible under the conditions of the match for the former to have been allowed to be used in the competition, and thus the unfortunate discussion which has since taken place would have been avoided.

"My council having in previous correspondence disavowed any wish to reverse the result of the match or claim the trophy, are consequently unable to accept it as accredited winners for 1903, but they are prepared to act as its custodians provisionally and pending any future arrangements which may be made in connection with another match.

"I am to inform you that the council of the National Rifle Association are unanimously in accord with the American committee as to the importance, in the interest of international rifle shooting of terminating the correspondence regarding this controversy as speedily as possible.

"I am desired to point out that one medallion of the trophy is deficient. This will doubtless follow."

DEATH OF PHIL CASEY. Ex-Champion Handball Player Specumb

to Cancer of the Stomach. Philip J. Casey, ex-champion handball player of the world, died on Monday night, of cancer of the stomach, at his home, 295 Degraw street, Brooklyn. He had been in failing health for the past two years, but only took to his bed a short time ago. Casey was born in the village of Rathdowney, Queens county, Ireland, in 1840, and came to this country in the early '60s. Since then he had been a prominent figure in the Tenth Ward, Brooklyn. His first match for the American been a prominent figure in the Tenth Ward, Brooklyn. His first match for the American championship was against Barney McQuade, in 1866, although previous to that Casey had met and defeated the famous Irish expert, Billy Baggs.

In 1871 Casey, with James Dunne, Sr., defeated O Brien and Farron for the championship, at Chicago, and twenty-six years later the same pair scored another victory over Carney and Keegan for a side bet of $2,000.

One of the most important matches of his time was against John Lawler, for the world's championship, in 1887. The first half of the match was played in Ireland and the second in America, and Casey won. Casey played several big matches afterward, but was never defeated.

He was unquestionably the greatest exponent of the game of handball that ever stood in an alley. Casey was never married and lived with his sister, Mrs. James F. Wallace. He was a member of the Consolidated Stock Exchange of New York. Twice he served as Alderman for the Tenth Ward.

Casey trained John L. Sullivan for his battle with Corbett in 1892. Personally, he was gentle and unassuming, and as honest as the sun, and was always ready to lend a helping hand to those who needed it. The funeral will be held to-morrow morning from St. Paul's Catholic Church, Court and Congress streets, Brooklyn.

HAVERFORD'S UPHILL GAME. American Cricketers Avert Defeat in

Game With Winchester.

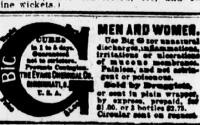

Special Cable Despatch to The Sun.

Winchester, England, July 12.—The Haverford collegians had a great uphill battle here to-day in their effort to stave off defeat at the hands of Winchester College. The "Wykehamists" declared their innings closed this morning for a total of 422, fully expecting to win with an innings to spare; but so carefully and pluckily did the Americans play that they succeeded in making the game a draw.

This result was due in a great measure to the fine stand of C. C. Morris, the visitors captain, in the second innings. Going in first, he successfully resisted the attack, and, when at length stumps were drawn for the day, he was still indisposed of with 147 to his credit. He received a great ovation from the impartial spectators after the game was over, and the Winchester boys joined heartily in this, although sorely disappointed at being deprived of their deserved victory. In the first innings of Haverford three wickets fell before a run was scored. H. H. Morris and R. L. Pearson then rose to the occasion and by an exhibition of the most careful play stopped the rout. H. H. Morris especially played in the most careful style, and remained for two hours at the wickets for 34 runs.

The end of the game proved most exciting, for, with 8 wickets down for 185 runs and forty-five minutes left for play, it was fully expected that Winchester would win with an innings to spare. A. G. Priestman however, resisted the bowling in an unlooked for manner, and before he was bowled for a most useful 27 the game was saved. The visitors will have a day off to-morrow and will play Harrow on Thursday. The score Winchester, 422: Haverford, 178, and 252 (nine wickets.)

nine wickets.
